22	I. INTRODUCTION
23	The Parties settled this mater. This Court granted the Parties a 30-day extension of the Joint
24	Pretrial Order deadline shortly after the Parties reached their settlement, which moved the deadline to
25	July 30, 2022. See ECF No. 106. The Parties are currently performing necessary terms that will allow
26	them to file a stipulation of dismissal and proposed order. An extension of time of the Joint Pretrial Order
27	is warranted in order to provide the Parties the addition	onal time required to file the Stipulation of Dismissal

II. LAW

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 6(b)(1)<sup>1</sup> provides:

(1) In General. When an act may or must be done within a specified time, the court may, for good cause, extend the time:

- (A) with or without motion or notice if the court acts, or if a request is made, before the original time or its extension expires; or
- (B) on motion made after the time has expired if the party failed to act because of excusable neglect.

Fed.R.Civ.P. 6(b)(1).

The United States Supreme Court has recognized, "Rule 6(b) gives the court extensive flexibility to modify the fixed time periods found throughout the rules, whether the enlargement is sought before or after the actual termination of the allotted time." Lujan v. Nat'l Wildlife Fed., 497 U.S. 871, 906 n. 7 (1990) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted) (emphasis added); see also Perez-Denison v. Kaiser Found. Health Plan of the Nw., 868 F. Supp. 2d 1065, 1079 (D. Or. 2012) (citing and quoting Lujan, 497 U.S. at 906). Further, this rule, like all the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure is to be liberally construed to effectuate the general purpose of seeing that cases (and other disputed issues) are decided on the merits. Ahanchian v. Xenon Pictures, Inc., 624 F.3d 1253, 1258 (9th Cir. 2010). Regarding "Good cause," it is a non-rigorous standard that has been construed broadly across procedural and statutory contexts. Id. (citing several circuits Venegas–Hernandez v. Sonolux Records, 370 F.3d 183, 187 (1st Cir.2004); Thomas v. Brennan, 961 F.2d 612, 619 (7th Cir.1992); Lolatchy v. Arthur Murray, Inc., 816 F.2d 951, 954 (4th Cir.1987)).

Consequently, requests for extensions of time made before the applicable deadline has passed should "normally ... be granted in the absence of bad faith on the part of the party seeking relief or prejudice to the adverse party." Ahanchian, 624 F.3d at 1259 (quoting 4B Charles Alan Wright & Arthur R. Miller, Federal Practice and Procedure § 1165 (3d ed. 2004).

and must inform the court of all previous extensions of the subject deadline the court granted." Further, a "stipulation or motion seeking to extend the time to file an opposition or reply to a motion, or to extend the time fixed for hearing a motion, must state in its opening paragraph the filing date of the subject motion or the date of the subject hearing." LR IA 6-1(c).

<sup>1</sup> LR IA 6-1(a): "A motion or stipulation to extend time must state the reasons for the extension requested

III. ARGUMENT

The Parties held a meet and confer on July 28, 2022, and discussed the additional time required in order to submit the Stipulation of Dismissal And Proposed Order. The Parties agree that an additional 30 days should be sufficient time to file the Stipulation of Dismissal And Proposed Order.

The Parties have diligently worked to complete the necessary terms of the settlement in order to file the Stipulation of Dismissal And Proposed Order. However, the Parties require an additional 30-day extension of the Joint Pretrial Order deadline. This extension is not made in bad faith and will not prejudice either party. Additionally, this request is made before expiration of the July 30, 2022, deadline. Thus, they Parties need merely show good cause.

The United States Supreme Court and the Ninth Circuit have indicated that good cause should normally be found when a motion to extend is timely filed. Lujan, 497 U.S. at 906 n. 7; Ahanchian, 624 F.3d at 1253. Indeed, that good cause should be liberally found is well established throughout the Circuits. See Venegas–Hernandez, 370 F.3d at 187; Brennan, 961 F.2d at 619; Arthur Murray, 816 F.2d at 954. Synthesizing the precedent to liberally find good cause, a leading treatise similarly suggests that district courts should normally grant extension requests, made before the deadline, in the absence of bad faith by the requesting party or prejudice to another party. 4B Charles Alan Wright, Arthur R. Miller & Adam N. Steinman, Federal Practice and Procedure § 1165, at 605–08 (2015).

Here, neither side is prejudiced by the additional time required. Good cause exists because the Parties are working diligently together to finalize this matter. An additional 30 days will provide the Parties sufficient time necessary to file the Stipulation of Dismissal And Proposed Order.

1 IV. CONCLUSION 2 Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 6(b), the Parties submit this extension of time. The Parties agree that 3 this extension is not submitted in bad faith, and that neither Party will be prejudiced by the new August 30, 2022 deadline. Further, the Parties agree that the resolution of this matter constitutes good cause for 4 5 this Court to grant the Parties extension request. 6 Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED BY AND BETWEEN THE PARTIES that the 7 deadline to file the Joint Pretrial Order be continued to August 30, 2022. 8 9 DATED July 28, 2022.
